

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is clearly partisan. At the very least, the station should air a pro-Kerry segment as well. If a station airs political pieces, both parties should get equal coverage.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need for our democracy. Instead of something produced at "News Central" far away, it's more important that we see real people from our own communities and more substantive news about issues that matter.

Thank you.
